We are now prepared to contradict any interest made that there are no silver this section of Indiana and bank for contents up with proof of manys from computent accepter. A correspondent mays: The eliver mine award by Homer Gwin is causing Kirklin.

A correspondent says: The sliver mine eward by Homer Gwin is causing intense excitement. A very rich deposit of ore has been reached, and after biasting twice a rich specimen of ore was exhibited to the many witnesses, and all who examined it declared it to be 50 per cent. better than the Buck Shosis ore. The ledge extends under the farms of neveral gentlemen in this vicinity and is believed to cover the entire southers part of this township. Specimens of the cre have been sent to be tested and should it prove all right a smelter will be exceed immediately. The indications are that Rutherford will be the thorough the county.

The Ables, of Columbia township railed on us Saturday and in a pleasant convention remarked that there were no doubt that the prospect of silver was about Monday.

Mr. Ables, of Columbia township, called on us Saturday and in a pleasant convensation remarked that there were no doubt that the prospect of silver was good in this county, and after compilation that the prospect of silver was good in this county, and after compilation that the Democrat for the interest it has taken to develop this wealth produced a certificate of assay which read as was the most successful ever made in the county. He caye, however, that this may be the only apecimen that may be as rich as the above. We differ from this state-mentable believe this is only an indica-tion of much richer mineral wealth.

The dirt rends are plowed in summer and straped up into a plowed backbone, and it is generally full of ruts or deep with and. The thrown up earth is not as good as natural surface road-bed the best dirt rend we have is the natural surface best big sponges, which keep wet all the time sucking up water. The thing to do is to tile on both sides and run the water off quick. Agents for road machines and graders don't agree with this but every dollar spent for these machines institute go into tiling and gravel for parameter roads. Roads are too wide.

The need of this; make them narrower and drain and gravel them. To make actid roads the entire burden of taxation ctid roads the entire burden of taxation bonid not rest on the country, but rail sads, banks, merchants, the general public should aid to build, and there should Be abould aid to build, and there should has such a law; all get the benefit and all abould help pay. There should be a slaw for the state to pay a premium on every mile of road built per year by each county, the premiums to be in proportion to the cost of solid roads, most where most costly, leawhere least costly. Five years ago Peoria county organized as one great road district and appropriated $15,000 for the first year and kept extending the system all over the county. Some of the roads are now out twenty miles from Peorla. And county can do the same. Good road-have become a necessity; you must have good roads over which you can move speedily, to and from market. Where they have such roads land is worth more and people are getting rich faster. He described at length the conveniences of hard roads, all of which we Vermillionsts know of. Good roads are an abse ste necessity of our civilization. Bad not men and women, destroy time, lose money and undermine health. With better money and undermine health. With better reads many of our roads might be conclidated; in some schools there are but bur to ten pupils; but they can walk no further. With good roads they could go wice or three times as far to school.

The question was discussed by Mr. Vilson, of Edgar county.

In raply to several questions Mr. Low-supisined that the best roads are made by not disturbing or throwing up, but imply by sinking the tiling, thus sleyating the read bed, as it were by sinking and drawing off the water.

It ad his request been granted it would have greatly in cilitated the business of that committee and enabled it to report the tariff his that much sooner. It was probably to that very reason that Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, a Republican member of the committee objected. The Republican are resorting to every known method of delaying the report of this bill to the House, but the majority of the committee have decided to report it this were whether the Republican members of the committee like it or not. To enable them to do this they will hold night sessions.
